INDICO DATA

Better data.   Better decisions.

Automate critical workflows with the Indico Data Intelligent Intake Solution

The vast majority of companies' intake workflows are highly manual, leaving room for processing delays, inaccuracies, sub-par decision making, and unrealized revenue. Indico Data's AI-driven technology resolves these major intake issues for document-intensive industries by automating intake workflows for even the most unstructured document types, freeing your experts from tedious, manual tasks, and allowing them to deliver more business value.

Indico Data's Intelligent Intake solution enables you to:

Intake all document types seamlessly

Our platform lets you make faster, more accurate decisions by turning complicated intake processes into a streamlined, competitive advantage. With Indico, you can take in documents from any source, in every format, capture insights that legacy automation technology can't.

Reduce cycle time and cost of your intake process

Accelerate your processes and time to revenue. Indico can save you time by automatically compiling information, and in turn, drive your top-line growth by increasing intake capacity. Now, you can make the right information available to the right people at the right time to make the right choices.

Maximize your existing investments

Indico Intelligent Intake allows you to get the most out of both your existing human and technology investments. Our solutions are tech stack agnostic, easily integrating with your existing ERP, CRM and other critical software systems. What's more, Indico Intelligent intake increases process capacity allowing your SMEs to do more with less while focusing on higher value work.

> We've identified almost $100 million in hard value, hard dollar savings that we can quite easily achieve over the next three to four years. That just headlines how impactful this is.
